Our wishes for communication justice in 2025 A New Year's message from WACC Global and regions

“Our biggest wish for communications rights in 2025 as the WACC Africa region is that there will be fair and equitable opportunities for all to exercise their fundamental rights to freedom of expression.” Lekan Otufodunrin, WACC Africa Secretary

“WACC Asia is committed in 2025 to work among the displaced, marginalized, impoverished, and gendered communities in the Asia region by empowering them with alternative consciousness towards democratizing communication.” Peter Singh, WACC Asia President

“As we look ahead to 2025, we wish everyone a prosperous and peaceful year. Let us continue working together for communication rights and peace on Earth.” Sandra Clenem, WACC Caribbean Vice-President

“Artificial intelligence is changing the way we communicate, bringing both opportunities and challenges. At WACC Europe, we are committed to advocating for AI that upholds communication rights, fosters inclusivity and empowers communities.” Ralf Peter Reimann, WACC Europe President

“We want you to be part of a world where communication justice for all is possible. Be part of WACC in Latin America. Defend the communication rights of our peoples.” Leonardo Felix, WACC Latin America President

WACC New Year's Message 2025

“Our biggest wish for communications rights in 2025 as the WACC North American region is that a higher standard of ethical and accurate communications would be achieved. We call on all producers and managers of information to carefully consider the communications they direct and deliver and how they can make a better world for those dispossessed of information-making power.” Gregg Brekke, WACC North America Vice-President

“On behalf of the officers and staff at WACC, I add our hopes that all people everywhere will be able to be seen and heard. May our collective efforts for communication justice in 2025 bring more understanding, inclusion, and peace.” Embert Charles, WACC Global President
